Cumbria Way

The Cumbria Way bisects Cumbria from the market town of Ulverston, near the coast of Morecambe Bay in the south, to the historic city of Carlisle on the Scottish Border in the north. In between the two it passes through some of the Lake District's most famous and spectacular scenery.

The route uses the valley systems wherever possible and therefore over most of its length it avoids the high fells.

Lakeshore paths, ancient green lanes and paths at the bottom of steep sided valleys all form part of this stunning route.

There are two sections in the higher fells, both on well-established paths: between Langdale and Borrowdale, over Stakes Pass and between Keswick and Caldbeck, over the flanks of Skiddaw.

Summary

Why do this walk?

- Explore the very heart of the Lakes, with striking views of Lakeland's high fells.
- Some great valley walking too – through Langdale and Borrowdale, the most famous Cumbrian Valleys.
- Walk under the craggy Langdale Pikes and along the shores of Derwentwater and Coniston water.
- Enjoy a day in the wilderness of the "Back o' Skiddaw".
- Atmospheric accommodation in old inns and farmhouse B&B's.

Essential Info

Length	3 - 9 nights
Full Route Length	70 miles / 112 km
Shortest Break Length	28 miles / 45 km

Grade

Moderate to Challenging

The Cumbria Way uses well defined and maintained paths and tracks over nearly all of its route. Please bear in mind that the climb over Stake Pass, and the Eastern route around the back of Skiddaw, pass through relatively high and remote mountain terrain, where the paths are rougher. Although some of the route is waymarked, these sections are not, so the ability to navigate is essential. You need some walking experience to do this route.

Terrain: Most of the walk follows valleys and lakeshores, but the climb over Stake Pass and the Eastern route around Skiddaw pass through relatively high and remote mountain terrain, where the paths are rougher.

What's it like underfoot? On the whole the paths are well defined and maintained, but at times it can be rough underfoot with some muddy paths, so good footwear is essential. The Western route around Skiddaw to Caldbeck can be boggy.

How Much Up & Down? Most days are rolling with gentle ascent and descents. The climb of Stake Pass is about 300m, on a well maintained path. Between Keswick and Caldbeck the Western route has a climb of about 300m, again on good, but sometimes boggy paths. The Eastern route has a further 300m climb taking you up to 658m on High Pike, on less well defined paths.

Signposting: Sporadic. You will need to use your guidebook and map.

Navigation: Pretty straightforward, on the lowland sections, but you may encounter hill fog or low cloud on Stake Pass and between Keswick and Caldbeck – so you need to be able to navigate.

Weather: You may be lucky enough to encounter warm, dry weather over the whole route and enjoy dry paths and tremendous views, but you must be prepared because the weather can change quickly. Good clothing and waterproofs are essential!

Route

Ulverston to Coniston

The route starts at Ulverston, a market town on the southern edge of the Lake District. It then passes through rolling farmland north of Ulverston before reaching open bracken covered moorland and foothills around Blawith. It then descends to the lakeshore of Coniston Water which it follows to the village of Coniston.

Coniston to Langdale

The route continues on green lanes and wooded paths to Tarn Hows, one of the celebrated features of the Lakes. More woods and moorland lead to the Lakeland village of Elterwater, before the path enters the Langdale Valley. Overshadowed by the dramatic high crags of the Langdale Pikes and Bowfell, this is perhaps the most famous place in the Lakes.

Langdale to Keswick

A steep climb up Stakes Pass at the head of Langdale leads down to the long and remote valley of Langstrath, punctuated through its length by deep pools and waterfalls. The route continues through the densely wooded Borrowdale Valley, before passing over the slopes of Cat Bells, above Derwentwater and on to Keswick, a bustling tourist town and the hub of the Northern Lake District.

Keswick to Carlisle

Paths meander through rougher, open moorland and mountain sides leading onwards from Keswick and over the slopes of Skiddaw before descending to the village of Caldbeck at the foot of the northern Fells. The final day is a contrast to all that has gone before - gentler, rolling countryside takes over as the path follows the meandering River Caldew downstream to the historic border city of Carlisle, and the end of the trail.

Additional Days

Coniston

A pleasant Lakeland Village on the shores of Lake Coniston,. Take a cruise on the lake on the steam launch "Gondola". Visit historic Brantwood, nineteenth century home of John Ruskin. For the more energetic, Coniston Old Man is a great walk with tremendous views over the Lake District and Morecambe Bay.

Keswick

Keswick is a bustling market town centred around the historic Moot Hall, with a vast array of outdoor shops – if you need any outdoor gear, you will get it here. There is a wide choice of places to eat or have a coffee, and a range of galleries to visit. Enjoy one of the easy, short walks down to the lake shore from where there is a regular launch service around Derwent water. Or pop into our offices to say hello or book your next holiday!

Carlisle

Carlisle is an historic border city, complete with castle and cathedral. Tullie House Museum has a lot of Roman artefacts and is worth a visit. The cathedral was founded in 1122 and is open every day. The castle has dominated the city for 9 centuries, and also houses a military museum – there are guided tours daily. There are plenty of shops and lots of places to eat or have coffee.

Accommodation

Good accommodation and friendly hosts are an essential part of any holiday. We make a special effort to find the hidden gems, as well as keeping a close eye on the quality of the more mainstream accommodation. As well as visiting the accommodation ourselves, we ask all our customers to complete a short evaluation on each night's accommodation, which then gives us an insight into the day-to-day operation, and lets us spot any potential issues before they become a problem. We have three former Keswick guest house owners on the staff – so we know the industry well. The Cumbria Way includes a great variety of accommodation, including small country hotels, guest houses, bed and breakfasts, farm house accommodation, and Victorian town houses. In selecting the accommodation we look for helpful, friendly hosts with good quality, characterful accommodation close to the trail.

Single Rooms

We are happy to book single rooms on this walk at a supplement, but can't normally book more than 2 single rooms for any 1 group.
